

The 3rd International
English Language
Olympiad
for Medical and Pharmaceutical Students

The 3rd International Olympiad is a series of contests designed to test the English language skills of medical and pharmaceutical university students around the world. The Olympiad has two formats: an individual contest and a team contest.

Who can participate?

Non-native speakers majoring in medical or pharmaceutical specialties:

- ✓ undergraduates
- ✓ postgraduates
- ✓ residents

Why enter?

The Olympiad brings students together from around the world to compete, learn and share ideas using English, the lingua franca of global healthcare.

How does it work?

The first rounds are online. The final round is in Moscow, at Sechenov Medical University, Russia's leading medical school.

Entry is free.

Full details when you register.

Individuals: 1st and 2nd year undergraduates only

Qualifying round: a simple online grammar and vocabulary test to assess your general English level, to take place on 29th November 2019

Round 1: online listening and reading tests to assess your ability to work with Medical English at a higher level, to take place on 5th December 2019

Round 2: video presentations – choose from a variety of topics to make an outstanding presentation of up to 5 minutes. To be judged by an international panel of experts. Closing date 31st December 2019.

Final: come to Moscow, where you work in teams with other finalists to create and deliver a live presentation in front of international judges and other participants, to take place in Medical Education week in early April 2020. Accommodation, city tour, visa support and plenty of fantastic Russian hospitality all included.

Teams: undergraduates, postgraduates and residents

Teams up to 6 members (the captain and up to five team members) submit video presentations from a set of topics by 31st December 2019. Videos to be judged by an international panel. Captains of the winning teams will be invited to join the individual finalists in Moscow for the Final.
